

Plastic surgery Figure formation (liposuction)

Description:

A perfect hour-glass shape of the body is every woman's dream. Since sometimes not even regular exercise and diets can shape up the body in required areas, here is us to help. And that by a method called the lipo-suction which removes the fatty cells from the body and provides the body with a new graceful shape.

Technologies:

Lipo-suction is treated as a complex procedure. The formation of body in larger groups is provided. For example, formation of torso together with the abdomen or formation of lower limbs together with the buttocks or in specific areas (e.g. inner thighs, knees, arms or double chin).

The lipo-suction itself is done either mechanically - so-called Tu-mescent method or by an ultra-sound lipo-suction. For both methods it is first necessary to apply a special solution which enables the easier penetration of lipo-suction cannula into the tissue in order to suck the fatty cells easier. Ultra-sound lipo-suction is different from the mechanical one in the principal of the operation itself. Compared to the mechanical destruction and sucking out the fatty tissue this one enables the treatment by an ultra-sound wave which forces the fatty cell to burst itself in the pulses of the ultra-sound waves and release the contents of the fatty cell without mechanical force. Ultra-sound is then more suitable for areas with larger amount of fat mass (e.g. belly) or in the areas with more loosen skin (e.g. inner thighs and arms).

Another advantage of the Ultra-sound lipo-suction is that it is capable to achieve much more balanced and smoother pattern and therefore is able to form the body even in the locations where it was not possible before (front part of the thighs). It is possible to do both types of lipo-suction only under local anesthesia but for comfort of the patient it is suitable to undergo a very gentle total anesthesia.
