

Dermatology Scars treatment

Description:

Scars are an unpleasant consequence of many diseases or injuries. If they are on visible spots on the body they become an esthetic handicap for the patient.

It is possible to alter scars by a whole range of methods but it is always necessary to evaluate the scar with many different criteria such as: its type, age, the type of the complexion etc.

Technologies:

Surgical scar modification methods - It is possible to smooth out scars in the face area either from acne, pox or an injury by using the most modern surgical laser Derma K. The surgical laser grinds out the surface of the skin - smoothens it and the laser's heat causes the contraction of the skin in given location. This smoothens the scar or wrinkle. After the procedure the skin heals just as after shallow scratch with the formation of scab within about four days. In next 7-10 days the skin is healed but strongly pinkish. During that period, oily lotions are applied. After only two weeks it is possible to use regular cosmetics and make-up.

permanent
